Increased outreach for increased growth

No more growing pains

When you bought your crane, it was cutting-edge, large enough to meet your needs, with some “growing room” for future business needs and had some capacity to grow to allow you to plan forward and develop your company into the future.

Now, due to newly configured container ships, or to pursue new business opportunities with different vessels, you discover that you require a bigger operating crane. Perhaps access to the quay wall has improved, allowing bigger ships to dock. Maybe it is no longer feasible to rotate a vessel 180° to work it in its entirety. Either way you need to service larger vessels. The cost of a new crane can be a significant expenditure and time consuming to replace, however there is a cost-effective alternative.

The robust design of a Liebherr STS means that it is possible to insert a boom tip extension on the STS, allowing you to service larger vessels, without extensive additional structural modifications.

The cost-effective alternative

Working with you to determine what is the best solution for your business plan, we can typically offer cost effective boom tip extensions catering for an additional one or two containers. The Liebherr design is ideal for these modifications because it is lightweight and rigid and already produces industry leading low wheel loads. Our engineers undertake an extensive design review, always keeping in mind the environmental restraints, whilst focusing on optimising the commercial opportunities that an increased outreach brings.
